LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS

James Alexander, PhD is an assistant professor in the Department of Political Science, Bilkent University, Ankara, Turkey. Originally a Cambridge historian, educated in the era of Cowling, Skinner, and Dunn, he shifted, as many did, to political philosophy, and is still trying to make philosophical sense of the distinctively historical approach to politics. He is the author of “The Contradictions of Conservatism,” Government and Opposition (2013); “Notes Towards a Definition of Politics,” Philosophy (2014); and “The Major Ideologies of Liberalism, Socialism and Conservatism,” Political Studies (2014).

Andrew Fiala, PhD is Professor of Philosophy, Chair of the Philosophy Department, and Director of the Ethics Center at California State University, Fresno. He is the author of a number of books and articles on ethics, religion, and political philosophy including: The Just War Myth (Rowman & Littlefield, 2008), Public War, Private Conscience (Continuum, 2010), Against Religions, Wars, and States (Rowman & Littlefield, 2013), Civility and Education in a World of Religious Pluralism, co-edited with Vincent Biondo (Routledge, 2013), and Ethics: Theory and Contemporary Issues, eighth edition, with co-author Barbara MacKinnon (Cengage Publishing, 2014).

Gillian Brock, PhD is Professor of Philosophy at the University of Auckland in New Zealand. Her most recent work has been on global justice and related fields. Her books include: Debating Brain Drain (Oxford University Press, 2015), Cosmopolitanism versus Non-Cosmopolitanism (Oxford University Press, 2013), Global Health and Global Health Ethics (Cambridge University Press, 2011), Global Justice: A Cosmopolitan Account (Oxford University Press, 2009), Necessary Goods: Our Responsibilities to Meet Others’ Needs (Rowman & Littlefield, 1998), and Current Debates in Global Justice (Springer, 2005).

Siegfried Van Duffel, PhD has taught Ethics and Political Theory at the University of Groningen, the University of Hong Kong, and Nazarbayev University. He also held post-doc positions at the National University of Singapore and the University of Helsinki and was visiting Associate Professor at Huaan University and National Taiwan University. He is currently writing a book on human rights and cultural differences. He has published in journals such as The Pacific Philosophical Quarterly, The Journal of Political Philosophy, The Monist, and The European Journal of Philosophy.
